We are experiencing another type of nursing shortage: that of qualified nursing faculty. One of the primary reasons a school has to limit the students it admits is because there are insufficient faculty to teach them.